Ottawa, Canada

The City of Ottawa—Capital of the Dominion of Canada—nestles snugly in a veritable forest of heavily foliaged soft maple and other trees, on high cliffs, overlooking the Ottawa river, and commands a magnificent view of varied scenery, combining mountain, river and vale, indescribable for beauty and grandeur. The Laurentian chain to the north; to the east, west and south, the Ottawa and Rideau rivers and Rideau canal, to the northeast the Rideau river emptying into the Ottawa river over most beautiful twin falls.

The City of Ottawa is particularly noted for its magnificent architecture. The Parliamentary and other government and public buildings, and a large number of private homes, constructed of splendid native stone and brick, are elaborate and striking in design, as well as in the appointment of beautiful grounds.

OTTAWA is abundantly provided with playgrounds, beautiful parks, picturesque driveways, shady avenues and splendid boulevards. There are 237 acres in playgrounds and park lands in the city limits, and about 2,000 acres natural park lands immediately adjacent to the city.

CONVENTION CITY AND TOURISTS' CENTRE

Ottawa has long since acquired the titles of Convention City and Tourists' Center. A larger number of conventions are held each year in Ottawa than in any other place in Canada. Many buildings are available for meetings, all the principal railways of Canada center here, and the numerous first class hotels provide excellent service at reasonable cost

Ottawa has 19 Federal Government Buildings valued at $22,675,000, giving employment to over 5,000 people, and distributes more than $5,000,000 annually through payrolls—an ASSET which no other city in Canada enjoys—a permanent asset that is in no wise jeopardized by whatever unfavourable conditions may arise and prevail in other cities or districts in Canada.

A visit to the Parliamentary Library is alone worthy of a trip across the ocean. Other interesting buildings include the National Victoria Museum, National Art Gallery, Royal Mint, Royal Observatory, Government Archives, Government Fisheries Exhibit, the Public Library, also the Central Canadian Experimental Farm. (See Page 18).

“Out Britannia Way”

Ottawa enjoys the most efficient street car service of any city on the continent. The cars are clean, comfortable and swift. The employees are neat, courteous and obliging. The traffic has grown from 10,000,000 passengers during 1905 to 22,000,000, during 1912. Ottawa is the only place in Canada where street car passengers may ride 14 miles for $3\frac{1}{8}$ cents.

Ottawa holds annually the best Industrial and Agricultural Exhibition, Automobile and Motor Fat Stock, Poultry, and Horse Shows in Canada.

Manufacturing and Distributing

OTTAWA offers a combination of greater economic facilities for the successful and profitable operation of industries of various kinds than any other city in Canada.

OTTAWA, CANADA.—Transportation Facilities.

Transportation Facilities

Twelve Steam Roads enter the city; two others and one electric line under construction; eight water lines.

Ottawa ranks second to no place in Canada, in transportation facilities.

RAILWAYS—Grand Trunk, Canadian Pacific, Canadian Northern, New York Central.

WATER LINES—Via Rideau Canal to the St. Lawrence and the Great Lakes, Ottawa and St. Lawrence Rivers to the Great Lakes, Montreal, and the Atlantic Seaboard.

FREIGHT RATES

Freight rates from Ottawa to the great markets of Western Canada are identically the same per class, per cwt., as rates from Toronto, Hamilton, London, Woodstock, Welland, Windsor, Walkerville and other industrial centres of Ontario, and with the advantage of one-half to two days quicker service from Ottawa to western points, by reason of direct haul (see Ry. map of Canada) without transshipment, as is necessary on consignments of freight from points not on the main line of the only three transcontinental railway lines.

On eastbound and export traffic, Ottawa, of course, has the advantage, in both rates and time, over all other Ontario and Western Canadian cities, by reason of location and more direct lines and transportation facilities between this point, the Atlantic ocean and the United States.

OTTAWA, CANADA.—The Public Market. Pure Food at Comparatively Low Cost. Consumers Purchase Direct From Producers.

RAW MATERIALS.

Woodworking, paper-making, and for kindred industries, raw materials are available in the city and within easy access.

Timber and other materials abound throughout the district: Ash, Apatite, Beech, Basswood, Birch, Barite, Corundum, Clay (brick, tile and Pottery), Cedar, Elm, Granite, Graphite, Iron, Hemlock, Limestone, Marble, Marl, Mica, Maple, Magnesite, Peat, Pine (red and white), Poplar, Phosphate, Sand, Water (good, soft, cold).

SPLENDID INDUSTRIAL SITES.

Splendid industrial sites, with trackage, are available—suitable, convenient, and comparatively cheap.

Some sites in city limits, with fixed assessments for 20 years, with a variety of labor in the locality, await occupancy.

LABOR.

It is indisputable that more favorable labor conditions obtain in Ottawa than at any other industrial center in Canada. Nearly every class of labor is available, especially efficient female help. The situation in Ottawa is particularly free from strife.
